1. Apply in your local Urban Planning oficce (or similar) to the licence of a minor alteration to paint the facade of the building to which yo want to fix yourself, in which you want to inlay, against which you want to lean, or simply which you want to enlargen.

1.a. The degree of heritage protection of the building may force you to sign you will stick to the existing colour, but that should not bother you.

A.b. If the facade does not need a coat of paint you can make a few colour loud paintings on it to justify the re-painting of it.

2. Ask a friend or relation, who should be an architect (there are plenty), to sign the sacaffolding project, together with the preliminar health and safety plan. This is very simple project and can be easily copied. When it comes to talk about wages, a few beers will do.

3. With the payed minor alteration licence (some 18 euros) and the local authorities permit for the proyects (some 25 euros), we can actually apply to the licence for placing the scaffold, because, althoung it is true you must define how long will the works take, you can obtain it without a tick in the appropriate box and so make it last indefinitely (expirience backs me up). Anyway, i am personally interested in few-months-satays, so i can install myself in different places one after the other and keep the temporary character of it. (such attribute frightens yhe architecs' guild).

4. Design your own urban reserve using your favorite materials and

5. Once you have the licence (approx. One month after) install the scaffolding together with the reserve.
